What are ICPP Graduates up to?

Recently graduated Shireen Hammond dominated this year in the World Institute of Photographic Masters (WIPM) awards. Shireen was awarded the prestigious gold award in the Wedding Traditional category and Silver in the Wedding Avante Garde category. Combined with her gold and silver awards at the Australian Professional Photographers Association (APPA), she is now elevated to an Associate of APPA in only her second year of entering, an outstanding achievement. ICPP are proud to feature her Gold Award winning shot in this edition of the ICPP Newsletter.

Looking For A Guest Speaker for Your Best Creative Students?

ICPP takes great pride in the quality of our teaching staff, so much so that we are pleased to make them available to your school for your Careers Forums or to provide an industry lecture and/or workshop for your very best creative students.

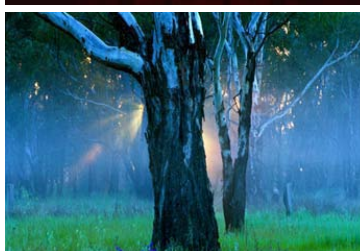

The benefits of having a professional photographers or a professional advertising Creative Director address students and parents directly are immeasurable. Australia to Switzerland on a bike!

It started with an idea, turned into a dream and now is reality. Throw together two guys who share a love of nature and sense of adventure, are best mates and only a little bit crazy and you get a bicycle trip of a lifetime - Australia to Switzerland on two wheels! Alex Kaeslin left Switzerland in 2003 to come to study in Australia after working many years for a Swiss Bank. He travelled extensively throughout the country before settling in Melbourne to study for the Diploma of Arts Applied Photography at the International College of Creative Arts (ICPP).

After graduating from ICPP in 2005, and after years of planning and preparation, this promising young photographer and his best friend, Albano Tundo, left Darwin, headed to East Timor by boat and started their journey bikes laden with equipment and all their worldly possessions. For the next two years the boys will document their adventure for the world to share. This journey will result in incredible images from all over the world in both still photography and film.

You can share in the adventure online (www.alexkaeslin.com). ICPP is proud, not only to sponsor this adventure, but to have played a key role in the development of Alex as a photographer. Alex is dedicating this journey to his late father, Willy Kaeslin.

Matthew Flinders Girls College Tour ICPP Facilities

The International College of Creative Arts was delighted to host VCE students from the Matthew Flinders Girls Secondary College, Geelong recently. A number of arts students considering pursuing careers in photography and advertising were able to have an informal chat with Heads of School, Greg Lee-Conway (Photography) and Derek Craig (Creative Advertising), which was followed by a tour of the campus facilities. Feedback from the girls suggests this first hand experience of the college was invaluable in giving them an insight into the workings of the school and direct access to the teaching staff.

Careers advisors or visual arts teachers who would like to bring groups of students to tour the college, should contact Neil Campbell at neil@icpp.net or phone (03) 96962800.
